Completing your Honoring Choices Health Care Directive:

Completing a health care directive is a very good thing for all adults to do. The form should be filled out after you've spent time thinking, and talking with loved ones, about your values and goals related to your future health care needs. Your directive should be detailed enough to allow people reading it to feel confident they can make decisions that would align with what you would say, if you were able to be a part of the conversation.

If you are in a situation where you cannot communicate, there will still be decisions that need to be made. If you have not talked with those closest to you about what you would want done, they will have to guess, and that is difficult.

We can’t do what you want if we don’t know what that is.

For that reason it is important that all adults have Advance Care Planning conversations, and ideally write down their goals, values and preferences in a Health Care Directive. This document is your voice – so in a situation where you are not able to communicate, you can still have a say in the decisions being made.

General notes:

- Write your name and the date on the top of every page just in case the pages become separated – that way it is an easy task to put all pages back in order.
- If you have instructions that are longer than the directive allows space for, you may attach additional pages. If you do this, indicate it by initialling the box on page 4.
- This is a “living document” meaning you should review and revise it periodically throughout your lifetime. Life circumstances change, and it’s important that your directive stays up-to-date.
Page 1: Identification ofSelf and Agent(s)

This is the page where you identify yourself and your Agent(s). Please be sure to write legibly.

It is recommended that you choose one primary Agent, and then you may name as many secondary Agents as you like.

If you cannot choose between two people, and want both as your Agent, one simple solution might be to select the one that lives closest as your primary Agent and the other as a secondary Agent. You could also include a written note stating your expectation that both your Agent and secondary Agent work together to make decisions.

Legally, you may name more than one Agent but it is strongly recommended that you select one person to be the primary person for discussion and decision-making.

Remember: the first person you think of may or may not be the best person for this role. We recommend you read the Information Sheet on the Role of the Agent, available on the Honoring Choices website. It is important to talk with the person you are asking to be your Agent, to be sure they understand the role and are willing to accept it.

1. This directive is not meant for use by people who have a mental health diagnosis in which invasive treatments are used in treatment. There is a Minnesota Psychiatric Health Care Directive available for people in that situation; a link to this form is available on our website or you can request a copy from your mental health care provider.

2. Possible additional powers of your Agent are listed on the bottom of page 1. Please initial the boxes next to the statements you agree with to help your caregivers understand the scope of your Agent’s role. You may leave them blank if you wish.
Page 2: My Goals and Values

Here we ask you to start thinking about healthcare goals and values considering your current state of health.

Your answers to the questions on this page can give the most information to your family, friends, and healthcare team about your personal preferences, values, and choices. We strongly encourage you to answer the questions thoughtfully and thoroughly.

Some examples of things people have included on this page:
- Playlist of music to be played in your room
- Instructions about where you would like to receive care, including hospice care
- Requests for visits from pets
- Instructions about wanting or not wanting prayers, spiritual rituals, or other faith-related traditions
- Notes about who to notify (faith leaders, specific friends, extended family members, etc) and who to not notify (it is acceptable to indicate your feelings of what you do not want to happen in your final days)
- Information about memorial services including music, readings, guests, food and beverage, location, and other details
- Personal messages to family/loved ones (for example “please surround my bed and share stories and memories, and laugh together at the joy we have shared.” or “It’s important to me that you all get along, so if you find yourself arguing about my care, take some time to calm down and start again.”)

This page takes you further into thinking about future healthcare choices if you are permanently unconscious or terminally ill.

Your care preferences if you are permanently unconscious:

Your care preferences if you are terminally ill:

Three care and decision scenarios are explained. Initial the box next to the statement that aligns with your goals and values.

Please note that efforts to keep you comfortable, which include some types of medication, as well as food and liquid offered by mouth, are offered to all patients. If you do not want these comfort measures, you should describe your preferences on page 4 in "Additional Instructions."
Here you are asked for your preferences on what happens after you die.

Some things that people include on this page:
- Preferences regarding burial, cremation, or other options
- Donation of your entire body to science
  (NOTE: This MUST be arranged ahead of time with the recipient organization – your directive alone cannot arrange for this type of whole-body donation)
- Contact information and other details about any pre-arranged plans you have put in place

Next, there is space to write in additional instructions.

Some people include:
- Information on specific treatments such as eating and drinking
- Continuation of information from Page 2

Making This Document Legal: Completing the last section of this page turns your directive into a legal document. You must sign and date it (or authorize another to sign for you if you are unable to sign yourself).

Then, either have your directive notarized or have it signed by two adult witnesses (neither of whom can be your Agent or secondary Agent, and only one of whom can be an employee of your healthcare provider.) You do not need both witnesses and a notary.

Now that I have completed by Health Care Directive, I will also:
- Keep my original completed Health Care Directive where it can be easily found.
- Talk to my primary and alternate Health Care Agents and make sure they feel able to do this important job for me in the future.
- Talk to the rest of my family and close friends who might be involved if I have a serious illness or injury, making sure they know who my Health Care Agent is, and what my wishes are.
- Give a copy of my completed Health Care Directive to my named Health Care Agent(s).
- Give a copy of my completed Health Care Directive to my doctor and other health care providers, and make sure they understand and follow my wishes.
- Take a copy of my Health Care Directive any time I am admitted to a health care facility, and ask that it be placed in my medical record.
- Give a copy of my completed Health Care Directive to close family members and friends who are not my Agent(s), but who will likely be involved in my care.
- Give a copy of my Health Care Directive to my personal attorney to have on file with copies of my will or other legal documents.
- Give a copy of my Health Care Directive to my faith leader, if I've included a request for this person to be involved in my care and/or to lead a memorial service.
